

School for young scientists – topic sustainable energy

Frame: Networking and teaching seminar for early-career scientists on the theme of sustainable energy

Focus: Enhancing teaching skills

Concept and organisation: HAW Hamburg

Date: 21-22 September 2022 – online

Supported by:

Agenda "School for Young Scientists: Topic sustainable energy"
21st September, 2021 Tuesday
09.30 - 09.45	Welcome by Peter Wulf, Vice President Research, Transfer and International Affairs of HAW Hamburg
09.45 - 10.45	Introduction of participants
11.00 - 12.00	Planning, conducting and reviewing a competency-oriented module in the renewable energy master (Dr. Georg Pangalos, Fraunhofer-Institut für Windenergiesysteme IWES)
12.00 - 13.00	Lunchbreak
13.00 - 16.30 break 14.30 - 15.00	Workshop "An introduction to teaching and learning – part I" (Andrew Weale, avocets consulting)
22nd September, 2021 Wednesday
09.00	Welcome day 2
09.00 - 13.00 incl. break	Workshop "An introduction to teaching and learning – part II" (Andrew Weale, avocets consulting)
13.00 - 14.00	Lunchbreak
14.00 - 14.45	Exchange of experiences
14.50 - 16.00	Presentation of and discussion with representative of the Renewable Energy Hamburg cluster (Tom Mikus)
16.00	Closing

School for young scientists – topic sustainable energy

Outcomes

- Enhancing teaching skills: Relevant topic
- Create options for young researchers to present themselves, to discuss, to exchange ideas, to network
- Meet people from outside the university!
- Meeting in presence would have been even more beneficial